Cage Season Opens Tonight With the Peru Teachers Here

With Six Lettermen to Build Around Hopes Are High For Season.

Stalcup's Debut

Each Stalcup Announces That He Will Appoint a Captain For Each Game.

(Pictures on Page 3)

Tonight at eight o'clock the basketball season will open with the Peru Teachers furnishing the opposition. Each Stalcup, former Bearcat star, making his debut on the map.

With seven lettermen back from last year's squad and a wealth of new material Stalcup is rapidly rounding out the Bearcats into a polished club.

Little is known of the Peru squad of their past record but Peru is always dangerous and a good game is expected. Both coaches are testing their teams before swinging into conference play and all of the prospective players will see action.

Lettermen returning this year are Wright, Shelton and O'Connor, forwards; St. John, center; Praisewat and Bird, forwards. Among the men who have shown considerable promise and undoubtedly will see action tonight are Huntsman, Barrett, Adams and Johnson, forwards; Brown and Greene, centers and John Wright, guard. Several of these men were on the squad last year and their ability is fairly well known to many of the players of the Bearcats.

Present the starting lineup of the Bearcats is unknown but it will come from the above mentioned list. There are several football men on the squad who have not been working as long as the others and they will have to be considered later for places on the team. The guard of last year's team is at least out of the game due to an injury received in the Rolla football game. Jones will report to the squad as soon as the injury will permit.

Each Stalcup announces that no captain will be elected at present to fill the vacancy of Bernard Cowden who left school to play with the Denver Bears. Before each game he will appoint a captain for that game. At the end of the season the squad will elect an honorary captain.

Quigley will officiate the game. The Peru Teachers are tall and fast. The starting lineup, which is composed of three Juniors, a Sophomore and a Freshman, averages well over six feet in height, according to data furnished by "Dutch" Lorbeer, the Peru coach.

Robert Patches, a guard, is six feet three inches tall and weighs 200 pounds. John Crawford, the other guard, is five feet 11 and weighs 168 pounds. Robert Carmichael is the center. He is 6 feet 2 1/2 and weighs 195 pounds. Fisher and Lanning, forwards, are 6 feet and weigh 170 and 175 pounds.

Stalcup is reputed to play a fast, aggressive game, and the team has a number of shots.

Student Wins Trip to Livestock Exposition

Carolyn Grier of Gower, a student of the State Teachers College, is attending the Chicago Livestock Exposition. She was awarded a trip to the exposition for outstanding club work in Buchanan county. She also served as president of the annual 4-H club camp at Camp Gillyard at St. Joseph. Miss Grier is sister of Mrs. William P. Grier, who is at Maryville and will return to Gower next week to resume her teaching work.

Student Senate Elections

Monday morning the three upper classes held Student Senate elections to fill the places vacated at the end of the fall quarter. Senior class Edward Morrell won the election over Margaret James Stubbs. In the Junior class Marvin Borgmier defeated Alice Goods won out over Roy in the sophomore class. Now a vacancy for Secretary on the Senate. Morrell held the position during the fall quarter. However, the Secretary should have been elected for a quarter term.

Association of Childhood Education Will Broadcast Program

The association for Childhood Education will broadcast a program over the network of the National Broadcasting Company, December 17, between the hours of 6:30 and 7:00 p. m. Eastern standard time. The program will include an address "Christmas Greeting from the National Education Association" given by Dr. J. W. Crabtree, secretary of the national association, Washington, D. C. Julia Wade Abbot, Director of Kindergartens, Philadelphia, Pa., will speak on "Keeping the Kindergartens Open."

5,000 Teachers to Be Employed With Aid Funds

Program Will Help Schools in Small Towns to Complete Regular Term.

Plan Adult Education

Vocational Education and Rehabilitation, Nursery Schools and Teaching of Illiterates is Concluded.

Jefferson City — Between 4,000 and 5,000 teachers will be employed under the state emergency relief program in education, Charles A. Lee, state superintendent of schools, said today. The program will help to continue the regular school program for this year in towns and villages under 2,500 where all anticipated funds have been exhausted.

"Some of them will be employed for only one month, some for two or three and a few will be employed for perhaps four months," Lee said. "In most cases the regular teacher will be employed."

The emergency relief program in education also includes five more projects which are adult education, nursery schools, vocational education, vocational rehabilitation and the teaching of illiterates.

Funds for this program which is being carried out in 36 other states, from the federal emergency relief administration, Lee explained. He said that Missouri has received $28,000 to be spent in December and that he is asked approval of a budget for January involving an expenditure of $60,000.

Lee said that at least 100 people would be employed on this project before Jan. 1 and estimated that it will be possible to give at least 500 full time teachers and 500 part time teachers employment by the first of March.

The state education department will pass upon the educational qualifications of all teachers, Lee said, and the state and local relief agencies will approve all teachers as to their need for employment.

Handled by School Boards.

He said that all teachers employed in any phase of adult education or to continue the regular school program will be employed by the local school boards from an eligible list approved by the state department and the state relief director.

All teachers employed on full time (30 hours a week) will be paid from $50 a month and teachers employed on a part time basis will be paid on the hourly basis.

Christmas Vacation at the College Opens Thursday, December 21

The Christmas holidays for the students and faculty of the College will begin Thursday, December 21, and end Wednesday, January 3.

A change had been made in the previous holiday schedule so that the students will leave a day earlier and return a day later, thus adding two extra days to the holiday season.

Those employed under the civil works program will spend little time in vacation, but will remain on the job here turning working hours into an income so they can meet tuition fees and pay board and room bills. During the vacation period some interior work will be done at the College.

The Christmas vacation will be the last break in the winter quarter. The opening of intra-mural contests, dad's day at the College Friday, and the first basketball game of the season are activities that are holding student interest this week. And the next week there will be relatively little special activity in view of the fact that two days of the five school days of the week will be cut off to start the Christmas vacation.

Students Urged to Use Christmas Seals on All Types of Mail

Receipts Will Be Used to Help Defray the State Expenses.

Many Students Have Not As Yet Responded to the Call For Aid.

Everyone uses seals on his Christmas packages. Why not use Christmas seals on your mail—letters, letters, greeting cards, and packages—this year? They are very attractive, but of far more importance, these Christmas seals carry the message of good health, for each seal helps swell the funds in this county that will be used in the coming months in an intensive campaign against tuberculosis.

The County Committee is highly pleased with the splendid response that has been made so far, but there are still a large number of students who have not yet responded to the appeal. If these knew how vital the tuberculosis campaign really is they would respond gladly and generously.

Human resistance to tuberculosis is greatly weakened by the exhausting effect of three infectious diseases, such as scarlet fever, measles or influenza. Environment causes also tend seriously to impair resistance. Among such causes are unhygienic living conditions, insufficient air and sunshine, fatigue, too little rest and recreation, crowded industrial conditions, and poverty with its lack of adequate nutrition and with the mental strain which accompanies it. Proper care and supervision will go far toward building up such resistance in those human beings less favorably endowed.

When the disease actually has developed in the lungs, both local and constitutional symptoms occur. Local symptoms, such as cough, expectoration, hoarseness, are due to definite changes in the lung tissues. Constitutional symptoms, such as continued tired feeling, fever, rapid pulse, loss of strength, weight and appetite, are due to the absorption of products from the diseased area. These are warning signals, and the person who has one or more for any length of time should consult his physician. A cold that has lasted six weeks or more demands a consultation and a hemorrhage, which usually occurs only after the disease has been present several months, is sometimes the first warning.

Rules Meeting This Afternoon

Larry Quigley, well known athletic official, will be here this afternoon for rules interpretation meeting. Coaches of the district will attend the meeting. It is to be held at the gym beginning at three o'clock.

Mr. Quigley is well known to Maryville fans. He has worked many games here in both football and basketball. He is recognized as one of the best officials in this section of the country.

Nineteen faculty members were entertained at the buffet supper given Tuesday evening, by the girls of Residence Hall.

The color scheme was black and silver. A three course menu was served. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. Deltrich, Mr. and Mrs. Garrett, Mr. and Mrs. Caulfield, Mr. and Mrs. Kinnard, Mr. and Mrs. Colbert, Miss Hopkins, Miss Helwig, Miss Keith, Miss Brumbaugh, and Dean Pike.

Adult Class in Agriculture Is to Be Organized

First Meeting Will Be Held at High School Here Monday Night.

The first project in Nodaway county under the national administration's program as sponsored by the Civil Works act to stimulate education has been formulated and will be in the form of an agriculture class for adults. The class will be organized at 8 o'clock Monday night in the vocational agriculture room of the Maryville high school. The class will be under the direction of John Jahne who has been superintendent of schools at Pickering and New Point. He will be assisted in the work by R. A. Kinnard in charge of the agriculture department of the State Teachers College and L. O. Gutting, vocational agriculture teacher of the Maryville high school.

Meet Three Nights a Week

At the organization meeting those enrolling will be given a voice in the arrangements, including the selection of material to be studied, and the time and place for holding meetings. Those unable to be present Monday, should get in touch with Mr. Jahne.

Mr. Jahne said today that although the government does not specify a minimum number for the class work, it is desirable to have at least ten or twelve. Mr. Jahne is the first to be placed under the CWA in its educational program for this county. The committee in this county in charge of the CWA educational program consists of W. H. Burr, Homer Phillips, J. L. Lawing and Mr. Gutting.

It has been proposed that classes be held three nights each week. Classes will be formed in the rural district where there is sufficient interest in the project.

Intended for Adults

The courses are intended for any adults interested in agriculture. The problems discussed will be of interest to those enrolled. If the membership of a class is from the city, problems relating to its needs will be discussed, such as landscaping, shrubs, gardens, flowers, insects and bacterial pests, spraying, fertility, etc. If it is a rural class, problems of interest to the farm will be studied.

Mr. Jahne has had fourteen years teaching experience in high schools and extension work. He is a graduate of the Teachers College here and has taken work at the University of Missouri on his Master's degree.

The purpose of the course is not for high school or college credit, but rather for information. Many important agricultural discoveries have been made in recent years, which college graduates of a few years ago are not aware. The course should be of vital interest to residents of Nodaway county which is one of the best agricultural areas of the United States.

Annual Banquet to Be Held at Noon in Residence Hall

Opening of Bearcat Basketball Season Tonight Caps Days Events.

Peru Here Tonight

Play to Be Given This Afternoon in Auditorium For Dads.

The program as arranged at the present time is as follows:

9 to 11 Registration and visitation
11 to 12 Assembly
12:15 Banquet at Residence Hall
2:00 Play, "Adam and Eva" in Auditorium
6:00 Dads dine with sons and daughters
8:00 Basket Ball game at Gym.

Today is Dads Day and the opening of the 1933-34 basketball season. Last year Dads Day was held during football season but due to the lack of a convenient game, this year it was put off until today. A large committee has been at work for some time, under the direction of Dr. O. Myking Mehus, on a program fitting for the occasion. Dads Day has become an established institution at M. S. T. C. and to fall short on any of the program would be a gross oversight. In view of that fact the committee has worked.

In addition to the regular Dads Day services the opening of the 1933-34 basketball season takes place tonight at 8 p. m. at the gymnasium. This is the first game under the Stalcup regime and much interest is being displayed in the manner that he will conduct his team. Stalcup came here from Jackson where he coached both basketball and football. He played in both sports under Iba and Lefty Davis.

With seven lettermen around which he can build his team, Stalcup is expected to turn out a winning club. Freshman material has shown up exceedingly well this season and a foundation for future Bearcat squads is being laid.

Many Dads are expected to remain for the game this evening. Dads will sit with their sons and daughters at the game according to the latest plans announced.

Alpha Epsilon Psi Plan To Decorate the Reception Room of the Conservatory

The regular meeting of the Alpha Epsilon Psi, Public School music fraternity, was held Wednesday evening, December 6, in the Conservatory. The regular business meeting was followed by a program given by the pledges. All active members were present.

The fraternity has chosen for a project for this quarter the decorating of the reception room of the Conservatory. The purchase of a radio and floor lamp are the two major improvements.

Pi Omega Pi Initiation

Pi Omega Pi commercial honorary fraternity held its initiation in recreation hall Thursday night, December 7. Those initiated into active membership were Catherine Norris, Georgia Schulte, and Beddonna Hallack. Those initiated into pledges were Beatrice Lemon and Doris Stoneburner.

A banquet was held Friday evening at the Linville Hotel in honor of the new Active and Pledges.

A freshman at the University of North Carolina entered a fraternity house recently and announced that he had chosen it for his permanent abode. When he was told that he had to have a bid first he answered: "O. K. I can bid as high as the next one."

A flat rate will be allowed on books in the rental library over the Christmas vacation, according to an announcement today by Dan Blood. The books may be checked out next Wednesday morning and are returnable Thursday, January 3. 10c for the entire vacation will be charged to those having activity cards and 15c to those not having them.

POLICY

Raise the Student's and College standards and promote higher student interest and participation in all school activities. To maintain a clean, high quality paper for the benefit of our fellow students.

WELCOME DADS

The Northwest Missourian, as the official organ of the students, extends to you a hearty welcome. We hope that your short visit will be a pleasant one. We are especially glad to have you here at this time in order that you may see the reconstruction work going on about the campus. It is this work that has enabled many sons and daughters to remain in school and we are glad that you may be here to give it your personal inspection.

WORKER OR DRONE

Just which are you, the worker or the drone? Do you support your team or just go to watch it play? The real workers in any hive of bees do their share, the drones live off of them. So it is in many cases involving school pep.

Tonight we start the 1933-34 basketball season. Where will you put yourself, with the drones or the workers. The Bearcat teams work hard many hours per day getting in shape to give you a top side performance. The least that you can do is support them at the games.

The support of the team during football this year was well above football par but even the best of football support does not equal the support deserved by Bearcat basketball teams. Maryville is the home of basketball champions. The fact is true because Maryville has the coach, the men that it takes to make a team and the support necessary to keep the team spirits up.

WHAT YOU DO TONIGHT WILL BE THE STANDARD FOR THE YEAR, SO GET OUT IN FULL FORCE AND "LET 'EM HAVE IT."

THE COLLEGIATE DIGEST

Do you appreciate your Collegiate Digest? Do you look forward to the day it is distributed? Most likely most of the students do. Of course, there are the exceptions who are never interested in anything. But do you really appreciate the fact that you are getting a highly interesting rotogravure magazine, a publication which costs hundreds of dollars to print, for no extra cost?

Collegiate Digest is an idea which was brought into reality by some college graduates who saw the need and value of some such publication to bring the colleges into closer contact. It entailed a great deal of tireless, monotonous work to organize an efficiently functioning body to put the plan into effect.

Each college receiving the Digest, and most of the colleges in the United States do, must cooperate by sending in pictures and by assisting with the circulation.

So you see that Collegiate Digest is no small project, but that it is something which has taken real man-sized effort, much ingenuity, planning and scheming, and systematic endeavor to accomplish. It is a publication which tends to bind closer together the various types of colleges and universities throughout the country and it enables the students of one college to see what is happening in similar institutions in the United States.—Western Mystic.

WHAT DOES AN "M" MEAN?

Does an M sweater mean so little now that townspeople and high school boys can wear them if they wish.

The sweater means many long hard hours of practice, many evenings given to the sport when other things call. It means many bruises and sore muscles, and it means much time given that could be used for study. It also signifies that the wearer is one of the few who could successfully qualify to be presented one. Is all of this to be forgotten as soon as the person winning the letter has it.

Any time that any person wears the sweater who has not earned one it cheapens the prize for those who do earn them by hard work.

There are also a number of high school letters worn by College men. These also cheapen the M. The letters are too common to put much significance on the M.

There are rules governing whom can wear sweaters and what sweaters are to be worn. Why is it that the M club does not protect their fame.

Mr. Santa Claus,

Dear Sir:

As you know the Student Government Association is sending two representatives to Washington, D. C., this Christmas. I will be one of the representatives to go to Washington. Since I am going to Washington I will be unable to receive my gifts in Bethany so would you please deliver them to me in Washington. I will be at the May Flower Hotel in Washington.

Yours,

The Code For Schools

Boards of Education, school officers, and teachers—as in 1918—will do more than any other group to give strength to the President's arm. Many places held NRA parades during American Education Week, in which the American Legion, the PTA, and other agencies participated.

Altho the recovery administration, primarily organized for industry, could not see its way clear legally to accept a school code, many schools are going forward with plans of their own. Schoolboards seem as eager as teachers for the schools to do their part. The following code for schools has been developed as an expression of the ideals of the NRA applied to the schools. Some boards of education are formally adopting this code. Others are trying to carry out the spirit of it. Let each system of schools lend support to the NRA in its own way.

The Code For Schools—Whereas public education, as one of the nation's major enterprises, involving approximately one million employees, serving thirty million children, youths, and adults, outranking in the number of its employees all except four of the major industries of the country, having more employees than the automobile, electric, and oil industries combined, cannot be ignored in any program of economic recovery;

And, Whereas the operation of the program of national recovery, involving as it does the abolition or extensive reduction of child labor, will place upon the public schools additional responsibilities;

And, Whereas cooperation, fair dealing, spread of employment and higher wages to keep pace with higher prices are principles of recovery which apply to the policies of public bodies just as well as to private industry and business;

Be it resolved by the board of education of the school district (or state) of _____ (or by the board of control of the university of _____) that this board voluntarily accepts the provisions of the President's Reemployment Agreement issued from the White House on July 27, 1933, insofar as these provisions can be applied to public school systems.

Be it further resolved: (1) That the purchasing agents of the board be directed to secure, as far as possible, all supplies and equipment from merchants and manufacturers enrolled in the National Recovery Administration.

(2) That if any teacher or other employee of this board is now receiving a wage below the minimums fixed by the President's Reemployment Agreement such wage is hereby increased to meet the provisions of the Agreement.

(3) That reductions (if any) in salaries as a result of adverse economic conditions are regarded by this board as temporary expedients. The salary schedule for the employees of the board which prevailed before reductions were made is hereby restored. If funds are not now available to restore this schedule, it is hereby reaffirmed in principle and the responsible school officer is requested to submit to the board plans for returning to the earlier salary schedule at the first practical moment. This step is taken in order that the public education service may continue to secure a satisfactory type of employee.

(4) Additions to the present staff as required for the efficient operation of the schools shall be made at points recommended by the responsible school officer and approved by the board. This step is taken to increase employment among the many qualified but unemployed workers in the professions and trades represented by school employees and to improve the educational service.

(5) That in order to lessen the grave evils of idleness and unemployment among youths and adults, the educational institutions under this board are urged and directed to make their facilities fully available for the further education of all youths and adults who can profit by such opportunities.

(6) That the educational agencies under this board shall make appropriate provisions for the instruction in the meaning of the National Recovery Administration so that pupils and students may contribute to the work of the economic recovery.

In adopting these resolutions, the board is attempting to do its part in meeting the call of the President of the United States for "a nationwide plan to raise wages, create employment, and thus increase purchasing power and restore business."—The Journal of the National Education Association.

Ordered To Report!

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Gosh, what a thrill! Here are my orders to join the Second Byrd Antarctic Expedition. The youngest member of the crew.

I'm going to the South Pole! To Little America—if Little America is still there, deep under the snow where it was left by the Admiral and his men in January, 1931.

Maybe I'd better tell you who I am and what this is all about. I am 22 years old. Just graduated from Harvard last June. My father is Captain Arthur Abele, U. S. N., retired. He is now stationed at the Boston Navy Yard in charge of the Massachusetts Nautical School Ship, the U. S. S. Nantucket. One of my grandfathers, George Sanford, has been in the oil business for more than 50 years.

It would seem, therefore, that I come by two things naturally—love of sea adventure and my interest in automotive lubrication problems. I am going as fuel engineer of the Expedition and, believe me, it's going to be a big job. We are carrying every type of automotive engine—in monoplane, biplane, auto-gyro, snow-mobile, tractor, oil-driven steamship, outboard motor boat, auxiliary sailing vessel and a motor boat cruiser. There are engines of every type on this amazing Expedition, air-cooled, water-cooled, engines for self-contained electrical generator units, even a Diesel engine.

Our leader, Rear-Admiral Byrd, tells me we shall do ten times as much flying as any polar expedition ever did before. And he promises to make me an expert aviator during our stay at the bottom of the world. What a thrill! I have been less than 30 minutes in the air and now I am going up against the most dangerous and most difficult conditions that ever confronted a rookie flyer. For the past two months I have been studying the rudiments of fuel and oil engineering at one of the big oil plants in Bayonne, N. J.

For many long months, once we leave our base in New Zealand, we shan't see a tree, a blade of grass, or any living thing except a few penguins, seals, gulls, killer whales and our own men and dogs, not forgetting Snow Shoes, our six-toed kitten. There is no wild life at the South Pole such as there is around the North Pole—no polar bears, walrusos—practically nothing.

Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, our famous leader, has spent the past two years preparing and gathering supplies for our journey—14,000 separate items! He has applied modern efficiency to exploration to an extent that permits us now to say that no other Polar Expedition ever set out with such an array of equipment. There are 85 of us besides Admiral Byrd.

I am reporting today to our big 10,000-ton flagship, the Jacob Ruppert, over at Tide Water Pier No. 3 in Bayonne, where we shall take on immense supplies of oil, gasoline and fuel oil. Then off for Norfolk for the big farewell radio party and more equipment.

Admiral Byrd is taking me with him for a very interesting reason. He is one of the greatest aviation enthusiasts in the world and he believes that the rapid development of American aviation depends largely upon the youth of the country. Therefore he is taking me along as a representative of the millions of young people of the United States. In order to deal more directly with the young aviators of the future, he has asked me to help organize the "Little America Aviation and Exploration Club." This we are now doing and I invite everybody in the country who is of high school age or over, and who is interested in aviation, exploration or adventure, to join it. There are no dues, no membership fees, no obligations whatever.

Admiral Byrd and I held an election and I was elected president of the Club. We shall establish executive headquarters for the club at Little America in the bleak and icy Antarctic. For the duration of the Expedition, however, we shall have headquarters in the United States, where I invite you to write me immediately.

To everyone who sends me a stamped, self-addressed envelope, at the Little America Aviation and Exploration Club, at the Hotel Lexington, 48th Street and Lexington Avenue, New York City, our American Headquarters, I will send a membership card in the club. Later I will send to each member a practical working map of the Polar regions we expect to visit so that you will be able to trace every step of our adventures by following these weekly letters I shall be addressing to the club. Send in your membership application. We are going to have a lot of fun together for the next two years.

Ida Elisabeth

By Sigrid Undset

The vitality of this story lies in its complete naturalness. There is something universal in Ida Elisabeth. What makes the enduring appeal of Sigrid Undset's stories is that whether she sets them in the middle ages or in the present, even though they deal with men and women of another nationality and language from her own, she understands character so completely that she makes you see men and women you know walking through the pages of her books. Her restraint, like her naturalness leaves an indelible impression.

Realistically modern, unabashed yet reticent, carried through with the impressive artistry which this author has ever had at her command, the novel is a distinguished addition to her already highly distinguished list. Ida Elisabeth, if not Sigrid Undset's masterpiece is a masterly piece of modern fiction, a novel sincere in its convictions, a narrative to be pondered.

Master of Jalna

By De La Roche, Munro

The fourth book in the Whiteoaks saga, takes up the story after the death of Gran in 1932 and carries it to the summer of 1933. Renny, as head of the house attempts to carry on the traditions of Captain Philip Whiteoak, his grandfather, even though there is practically no money left. When the book closes Renny has, by an almost superhuman effort, managed to keep the estate intact, and he, Alayne and young Adeline are alone at Jalna.

Miss de la Roche has vividly realized, and dexterously drawn, a dozen highly individual and self-willed characters, some of them eccentric, some of them quarrelsome, nearly all difficult to live with; but at the same time she has indicated with equal vigor the power of kinship, family pride, and the sense of a common past to knit this adverse tribe together.

BOOKS

One More River

By John Galsworthy

In carrying his narrative to the present day, not only has Galsworthy done literature a signal service by mirroring so brilliantly the social changes which have taken place, but he will be found also to have given aid to future historians of social change. It is to the great credit of Mr. Galsworthy, therefore, that he was willing to be the humble camera man of an antique generation in order that literature might be served, and our present selves brought up standing by his cold reflection of superficialities, and heartened by his confidence in men and women to win through. One More River, if not his most enduring work, is for our own immediate time, John Galsworthy's most inspiring and reassuring work.

Galsworthy is read, and doubtless will continue to be read, for his shrewd observation of changing times and manners, for his fine and deliberate art, and for his subdued but steadily burning love of freedom, justice and good will.

THE STROLLER

Sloniker hunting mice for Miss Zeller, an Alpha Sigma pledge. I'd say she had him wrapped around her finger when it comes to running errands.

Frances Todd isn't satisfied with "Give Me Liberty, Love," she wants the love every time.

The dorm girls are happy to have "wimpy" the washer as a full fledged waiter in the dining hall.

Did Georgia Schulte put her foot in it?

Even the faculty has to chew gum now to keep a straight face in class. At least we suppose that is why they chew.

Why does a certain instructor wish she had red hair?

Maryville, Mo., Dec. 15th, 1933

Mr. S. Claus, 200 Polar Place, Arctic Circle, Iceland.

Dear Sir:

In view of the new deal being handed out to everyone would you kindly consider my application for aid. I am a good little person and a hard worker. My work requires the services of a very expensive book; an antiquarian book to campusology questions and the like. With at hand I needs must have 1394 statistics on such important questions as: "Who is the prominent young man about the campus who has a weakness for the cat's smile displayed by Eugenia Compton?" If you could oblige with this book I will be indeed grateful.

Sincerely yours,

The Stroller.

P. S.: The answer to the above question must be the new book.

Dear Saint Nick:

Will you remember me kindly this year as the girl who has been 'too good for words. In place of wishes please substitute a coaster wagon, or skates.

Dorothy DePew.

Mr. Santa Claus, Iceland

Dear Nick:

Just thought I would drop you a few lines and let you know how all the dear little girls and boys in Maryville had behaved themselves this year. I'll start with Rose Graves. Rose has been a rather good girl this season but is redheaded so you know what my recommendation will be there. You had better cut George Allen off your list this year because he has been running around with that "terrible" Morgan boy, Eddie. You know what influence Ed had on the English debate. Mr. H. Dieterich has worked his high school students hard and should be remembered for it. Stephen Mar, who is in New York studying, has not answered one of his correspondence from this office, including "swell" letter that Mr. Cook and I wrote him. (As he has the stocking). The girls at Residence Hall never get a newspaper copy in on time. No dollies for them. Elizabeth Plank frowns at people instead of smiling. (tsk-tsk Nicky boy, she must stop that). Esmeralda Forbes and Cleola Carr have been the same quiet behaved girls that you have known them to be. I suggest a doll horse and a scooter. Bring Barbara Zeller a striped candy stick. Little Lester Ellward has behaved so nicely this year. Frances Shively should be taken to task for keeping everyone around her in hot water most of the time. (A darnin' egg for her). (Hunter too). By the way Claus do you remember Jean Patrick? She is a dear. Just bring her something to remember her by. Say, while we are on the subject of things to remember people, bring Charlotte Leet an appropriate little tidbit for my sake. (and Thornhill). She nearly wrote me out in Chemistry last quarter pestering around me. You can imagine how poor Thornhill must be put to Jean Montgomery and Laura Phoebe Roseberry always member to speak. (Gum drops will do the trick). As for the by, old Joy Spreader, this chap C. F. Grey has been up bad habits. Only this week he had a date and stayed out till 10:20. Aside from that he has been to learn too many of the answers. No gum drops for him. All for this time. Will drop you a line next week if anything turns up.

Yours till Reindeers chew tobacco,

Humps.

P. S.: The wife and I expect you and the Mrs. to have a dinner New Year's Day. Understand, too, that you are having trouble with that new lead reindeer. Feed him more vitamins E and F. Advise you not to use free will in the cities.

College High School Notes

The "Foot Lights" dramatic club had its first meeting for the new quarter Tuesday morning at 10:30 in the Auditorium.

Mr. Junior Porterfield played a piano selection.

Mrs. Orville Crowder Miller, who spent last year in New York, gave a most interesting lecture on "The Theatres of New York."

The members of the Footlights greatly enjoyed both the lecture and the piano selection.

Gladys Fultz, Mr. Velle's niece, has enrolled in the Junior class of the College high.

The class pictures for the annual were taken on Thursday of last week. Individual pictures of the Seniors have been made and group pictures of the three other classes will be included in the book.

The high school feels that it is unnecessary to apologize to the College students for the congestion in the east corridor. We feel that we are entitled to the small part of the first floor which we now occupy. We would like to inquire what the College students have given up to us. It is for their benefit as well as ours that we are here. If College students would propose and support the construction of a new high school building, it would be appreciated just as much by high school as College students. The high school students are boosters of the College but do College students support us?

(Signed) A High School Student.

THE TATTLER

Mr. Harris—"If you were going to sign up for a course in behavior, what course would it be?"

A Student—"Short course."

What could a certain person have been thinking about when he put on his test paper that Jefferson City was the capital of the United States?

The Tattler wonders where he thinks Washington, D. C. is. People will get mixed up, won't they?

The General Science class was discussing musical instruments. Miss Franken asked how many students had seen a "sweet potato." Several students held up their hands, including Dale Swearingen.

Miss Franken—"What does it look like, Dale?"

Dale—"Well, its long and not like a potato and is yellow lookin', and sorta mushy."

Miss Franken—"Is a sweet potato mushy?"

Dale—"When it is cooked."

Miss Franken—"Is a musical instrument mushy?"

Dale—"Well, I guess not."

Better watch out, Dale, you may know your vegetables but you don't know your musical instruments.

The Tattler would advise Bill to be more careful, or he'll get his plump little cheek slapped.

Some deductive reasoning:

1. All dogs have fleas.
2. I have a dog.
3. Therefore my dog has fleas.

It's fun to be fooled but its more fun to know, don't you think, Margaret?

The Tattler heard that Verlin was past helping. It is thought that he won't recover before spring.

Bill thinks the new lake is going to help him. The Tattler doesn't understand what for.

Do you suppose Wilson Thompson could have gotten his wires crossed when speaking of President Jackson giving a toast. This is what Wilson said, "As Jackson asked for more toast he, etc . . ."

The Tattler wonders why Anna Margaret's boy friend's telephone goes haywire when the roads are muddy.

CAN YOU IMAGINE?

Katherine Collins speaking to Conrad.

Wilma Mott looking energetic.

Gerald Alkire with a bass voice.

Audrey Porter not looking for idens.

John Gallagher as "Little John."

Elizabeth Hayden with her nose not in a book.

Vera Gates not worrying about her grades.

Evelyn Freeze with curly hair.

Faye Spire as a beauty queen.

Mabel Cooper with her hair combed.

Bill being appreciated.

Mary Jane Scott in a bathing suit.

Margaret Peery as an old maid.

Boyer without Fine.

Alkire without Auten.

GUESS WHO?

Answer to last week—Audrey Porter. This week's guess who is a blue eyed junior boy, a blonde, is very fond of girls, rides on the south bus, spends his leisure time reading the spide of fo, wears a blue sweater, is not hard to look at, and at times is studious. Ans. next week.

IT TAKES HEALTHY NERVES

FOR JAFFEE TO BE THE WORLD'S CHAMPION SKATER

IRVING JAFFEE

(At Right)—Again Jaffee makes a thrilling finish as he speeds to victory! Winner of 1,000 medals and trophies, including three Olympic Skating Championships, Jaffee has brought the highest skating honors to the U.S.A. Asked recently if he was a steady smoker, Jaffee said, "Yes—but that goes for Camels only. I have to keep my wind, you know, and healthy nerves."

Steady Smokers turn to Camels

You've often seen his name and picture in the papers—Jaffee, the city-bred boy from the U. S. A. who beat the best that Europe had to offer, and became the skating champion of the world! Speaking of speed skating and cigarettes, Jaffee says: "It takes healthy nerves and plenty of wind to be an Olympic skating champion. I find that Camels, because of their costlier tobaccos, are mild and likable in taste. And, what is even more important to a champion athlete, they never upset the nerves."

Change to Camels and note the difference in your nerves... in the pleasure you get from smoking! Camels are milder... have a better taste. They never upset your nerves. Begin today!
